Dear Tim:

As you are aware by now, Radar Devices has received for the second consecutive year the National Marine Electronics Association's award for the RADAR WATCH line.

The award was given based on a poll of the dealers. We faced some very severe competition from other companies such as Decca, Sperry, Raytheon, and Bendex, who also provide marine equipment. This award was specifically based upon excellence, performance, and reliability of our equipment.

I am extremely proud and gratified that Radar Devices has again received this award. The award was made possible by team effort. Your efforts as a member of that team which contributed to the outstanding product acceptance by the dealers and customers is very much appreciated.

I wish to personally indicate my thanks to you for your dedication to excellence and for your contribution to the design quality.

Thank you again for a great job well done!

Sincerely,

Lawrence F. Anderson
